Reflecting on the journey of Christians, Pope Francis says: "I think this is truly the most beautiful experience we live: to be part of a people on the road, on a journey through history, together with its Lord, walking among us!". He insists that the people of God must always walk together with the community family of Adam, in whose midst they are taken and to whom they are sent. Thus the synodality becomes the name of the life of the Church and of her mission. We are consoled to know that the synodal journey is animated and consoled by the Spirit, under whose wing and in whose strength the pilgrim Church advances in seeking the Kingdom "in the expectation that blessed hope will be fulfilled and that our Saviour Jesus Christ will come" (Liturgy of the Mass).
